

Farm Transition Planning Workshop

Two days of hands on learning and discussions facilitated in a workshop format.

This style of workshop provides an opportunity for peer-supported learning, a highly effective way to learn and problem solve by combining experience and knowledge of other owners.

Learn and ask questions from experts in financial planning, family dynamics and tax and estate planning.

This workshop is suited for agribusinesses, farm families and their next generation of owners.

Prime objectives:

- 1 Build the foundation of your farm transition plan through two days of interactive learning and sharing from expert speakers and facilitators.
- 2 Review and discuss the critical issues farmers face, the step by step process and key components of a successful transition plan.
- 3 Leave with an understanding of the work and commitment required to complete a plan for your farm business to build value today and thrive for generations to come.

Approved by the Saskatchewan Agricultural Skills and Knowledge (ASK) Program.

Success is no accident.

Set yourself up for success when it comes to transitioning your farm no matter if it is two months, two years or two decades away. Being transition ready is easier than you think AND it creates a stronger, more valuable business now and in the future.

Take the next step to start your journey towards a successful farm transition.

This two-day interactive workshop will work through the components of a comprehensive plan. With farm transition expert facilitators leading the sessions, you will have the opportunity to participate in discussions with other farm owners and begin mapping out details of your plan and the critical issues related to successful farm transitions.

Key business and personal assessments will be completed that acknowledge strengths, challenges and opportunities to support you in the process.
